

4. THE LIFE OF A GENTLEMAN

It was arranged for Pip to meet Mr Jaggers in London to begin his new life. A week later he was catching the coach to London.

At Mr Jaggers' house...

From that day on, Herbert and Pip became great friends. He taught Pip to live like a gentleman and they spent most of their time going to plays, concerts and parties.

By now, Pip had forgotten his life in the village. But one day he got a letter.

But he had no choice.

